Hop height-adjustable tables and benching bring versatility to the work environment for users and designers. Height-adjustability is a smart solution for promoting movement during the day to support the variety of tasks people do, while implementing well-being principles. With their simple and functional design, Hop tables and benching easily integrate into the floorplate for wherever people work.

Fit People's Needs

Enabling movement from sitting to standing is just one benefit of Hop tables and benching. Telescoping and expandable bases also allow for width adjustment to accommodate a variety of tops, offering flexibility in design.

Smooth Operation

Single-stage and dual-stage mechanisms let people control their height settings with the touch of a button. Surfaces lift and lower quietly and efficiently, with minimal energy consumption. Count on their durability for day-to-day use.

Organize and Personalize

Accessories solve for individual preferences. Create a sense of visual privacy with worksurface mounted screens and keep power cords tidy with wire management baskets.

Design Choices

With a wide range of choices for tops, bases, edge options, and finishes, Hop tables and benching offer a breadth of application variety and easy specification.
